One for the Record Books

This is one for you baseball trivia nuts, how often do you see an unassisted triple play? During the Minors Diamondbacks vs Tigers game on Monday, September 15, 2008 we had one by 7 year-old Dylan Keyser.

The bases were loaded and there were no outs, just to set the stage. The batter hit the ball as if drawn by a magnet to Dylan's glove to get the batter out. Dylan then touched third based to get the runner on third base out because he didn't tag up. Then the runner from second base was running to third and Dylan reached out and touched him to get the third out, all in a matter of seconds.

Great Job Dylan and Fast Thinking!
